EXIGIS® Seeks to Protects Organizations from Third Party Cyber Risk with Newest Release of RiskWorks® rm.Compliance®

New York, NY, October 01, 2014 - EXIGIS, LLC. (www.exigis.com), the leading provider of risk management, insurance, and trade finance software and services, has announced the release of RiskWorks rm.Compliance 11.0, the next generation of the Company’s industry-leading insurance compliance software.

EXIGIS RiskWorks rm.Compliance was the first web-based workflow automation software solution purpose-built for the management, verification and assessment of third-party contract compliance.

“Today’s risk, procurement, legal, and information technology professionals are faced with an increasingly complex and shifting risk landscape. rm.Compliance is designed to enhance enterprise decision making by increasing access to timely information and actionable business intelligence. This is particularly important in the context of assessing counterparty risks and managing supply chain resiliency,” said Frank McMackin, Director Business Development and Accounts at EXIGIS.

The release is an important upgrade to RiskWorks rm.Compliance and marks a momentous advancement in insurance compliance technology. rm.Compliance 11.0 delivers significant interface and feature enhancements and includes powerful new functionality relating to the aggregation of account data across multiple contracts, management of organizational unit hierarchies and subsidiaries, adaptation of non-standard contract requirements, tracking of risk saturation levels and total spend, and process reporting and analytics.

“Obtaining and verifying third party certificates of insurance is now a standard part of doing business. But it is only one of multiple steps in a robust third party due diligence process. How much do you really know about your suppliers? What, if anything do you know about the suppliers of your suppliers? Can you reasonably quantify your aggregate exposure by supplier, region, product line, etc.? rm.Compliance 11.0 is designed to facilitate next level identification, assessment and management of third party compliance,” said Frank McMackin, Director Business Development and Accounts at EXIGIS.
